Finding e-Books

There are two places where you can search for e-books
1. Dawsonera
2. Web Catalogue

Dawsonera can be accessed from the LRC page - you can find the link in the E-Library

Dawsonera

Find the link to Dawsonera listed in the resource/database list.

To enter you have to sign in through Shibboleth. Staff sign in using their computer login and password, students use their DC number & computer password.
The eBook catalogue tab gives you access to the books we have bought—there are currently about 600 of them.

You can also search for books we don’t yet own but are available to buy.

Use the Advanced Search feature to do this—make sure you tick the box “Books not owned by your library”
The “My account” feature allows you to store e-books in a convenient location. To add a book to your bookshelf, click on the grey star so that it turns yellow.

The book will now be stored on the bookshelf within your account. This means you can quickly find it next time you log in.
Web Catalogue

The other place to find an e-book is the LRC’s web catalogue. It is a simple process. From the catalogue click on the drop down button next to library and choose the e-book option. Put your title or word search into the box and it will bring up all the e-books we have on that topic.

To access the book, click on the URL button.

If you have any queries please don’t hesitate to ask LRC staff. If you do find any e-books that we don’t have in stock that you feel would be useful for your subject area, please let your subject librarian know.
