How do I reference a journal article?

Example of citation within the text – Paraphrasing
Tassoni (2013) states that, in terms of children’s general development, it is useful to begin by comprehending how crucial hand movements can be.

Example of citation within the text – Direct quote
“A good starting point is to understand how important hand movements are in children’s overall development”
(Tassoni, 2013, p. 21)

Example of how the reference for this source should appear:

Journal articles - points to note
The following format should be used when referencing journals:
- Surname, Initials. (Year) Title of Article. Title of journal. Vol no (issue no) pp. page nos
- The name of the journal is italicised, not the title of the article
- The volume number is in bold
- Volume part numbers can often be referred to as months of the year depending on the publication, therefore part ‘3’ may be referred to as ‘March’. Substitute as necessary as both are acceptable
- Page numbers for journal articles are given in the reference
